Wangari Maathai was a great woman from Kenya. She planted trees to protect nature and won the Nobel Peace Prize.

Wangari went to school in America. She studied very hard. When she went back to Kenya, she worked as a teacher. However, she saw people in her hometown cut down trees to make money. This caused a big problem to nature.

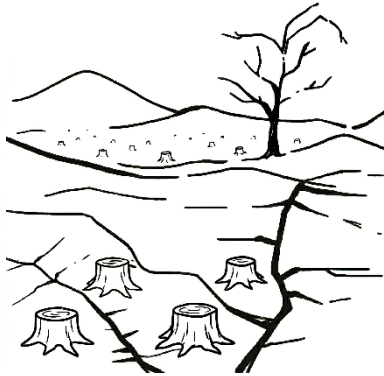

Wangari came up with a solution. She started a group, the Green Belt Movement. Many women joined her group to plant trees, and this made their lives better. The Green Belt Movement grew bigger and bigger. More and more women from different towns came to help.

Wangari and the Green Belt Movement planted many, many trees - more than 30 million! In 2004, she got the Nobel Peace Prize for helping people and nature. It was a quiet Saturday afternoon. Jerry was at home watching TV in the living room. Suddenly, he smelled something strange. It was not the smell of food — it was the smell of something burning.

Jerry went to the kitchen and saw black smoke coming from the oven. He was very scared because there was a fire! He didn't take his phone or coat. He ran out of the house and shouted for help. His neighbor, Mr. Smith, heard him and came out. When he saw the smoke, he called the fire department right away.

A few minutes later, the fire truck arrived. The firefighters were very brave. They ran into Jerry's house and put out the fire. The kitchen was black and dirty, but the rest of his house was fine. Jerry was lucky. Nobody got hurt in the fire. He thanked his neighbor and the firefighters.

Student Voice Forum — Should schools start at 10 a.m. and end at 4 p.m.?

 Ben	Schools should start later. I spend one hour on the bus to school, so I get up at 6 a.m. every day. I really want to have enough sleep. 😊
 Stella	I don't like this idea. I love studying with my friends. Going to school at 7 a.m. is okay. Also, my dad starts working at 8 a.m. He can't drive me to school after 8 a.m.
 Mira	My parents' work starts at 11 a.m. and ends at 9 p.m. every day. It is difficult for them to get up at 6 a.m. and take me to school, so we should go at 10 a.m.
 Fred	When we grow up, we must work, and most jobs start at 8 a.m. If we make it a habit to get up late at 9 a.m., it will be difficult for us to work at 8 a.m.
 Helen	Now we stay at school from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. If schools start at 10 a.m., what classes should we give up? Arts? PE class? Or English? Is that good for us?
